Ansell Wins OHS “2024 Product of the Year” Award for AlphaTec® 53-002 Chemical-Resistant Glove

Innovative Design, Exceptional Protection, and Unmatched Comfort Recognized in Prestigious Industry Award

1 October 2024, Iselin: Ansell, a global leader in safety solutions is proud to announce that its AlphaTec® 53-002 chemical-resistant glove has been awarded the “2024 Best New Product of the Year” in the Hand Protection: Chemical/Liquid category by Occupational Health & Safety (OHS). The OHS awards, presented by Occupational Health & Safety magazine recognizes outstanding achievements in workplace safety and health.

The AlphaTec® portfolio spans a wide range of chemical protection solutions, from highly durable gloves designed for excellent dexterity to full-body suits crafted for maximum coverage that meet the needs of workers handling hazardous chemicals across various sectors. The body suits in the AlphaTec® portfolio provide head-to-toe protection in environments that pose high risks for chemical exposures while exceeding safety standards. Whether for handling chemicals or managing contaminations, the AlphaTec® portfolio delivers tailored solutions that meet the diverse needs of industries worldwide without compromising comfort or performance.

As part of this comprehensive portfolio, the award-winning AlphaTec® 53-002 glove is setting new standards for chemical protection, offering industry-leading features designed to ensure maximum safety and comfort for workers:

- Unrivaled Chemical Protection: The glove's advanced rubber polymer coating and plastic laminate technology provide superior resistance to various chemicals, exceeding industry standards and ensuring maximum safety for workers in hazardous environments.
- Enhanced Comfort and Dexterity: The AlphaTec® 53-002 glove's unique manufacturing process ensures a snug fit and exceptional dexterity. This allows workers to perform intricate tasks with ease while staying protected.
- Commitment to Worker Well-being: This award underscores Ansell's dedication to creating products that shield workers from harm and enhance their overall experience on the job.

PRESS RELEASE

"We are honored to receive this prestigious award from Occupational Health & Safety," said Jason Lavin, Senior Marketing Director at Ansell. "We continually strive to deliver high-quality, cutting-edge solutions that not only safeguard workers but also drive performance and comfort across the globe. Our dedication to improving workplace safety drives everything we do, and this award is a testament to that mission."
